

Penguins of the Antarctic

Researching the Researchers

*Use the space below to record the information that you collect from your research.
Use the following questions to guide your research:*

What is the focus of the research the scientists are conducting?

What are their research goals?

What has been learned from their research thus far?

What do they hope to learn in the future?

Use the space on the back of this page to plan your presentation. Remember to include the following points in your presentation:

- Explanation of the focus of the research the scientists are conducting
- An explanation of the research goals
- An explanation of what has been learned from the research
- An explanation of what you hope to learn in the future
- An explanation of why it is important that the research continues